

Better planning

The AccessRH web portal is a consolidated source of RH supplies information

To ensure reliable management of contraceptive supplies, information needs to be shared among decision makers across supply chain functions. AccessRH enables ministries of health, NGOs, technical assistance providers, advocacy groups, manufacturers and donors to access critical information for decision making on orders of reproductive health supplies and actual monitoring of current shipments.

Research

A key feature of the AccessRH web portal is the RHInterchange. It is the first and only site to provide continuously-updated data on global contraceptive orders and shipments. Learn about contraceptive order history in your country and/or region. Use the data to produce reports such as summary reports by value, quantity or a list of shipments to help inform your planning process. Or, request assistance to create a report tailored to your needs. On the site, you will find the most comprehensive source of up-to-date information on over US $1.6 billion worth of global contraceptive orders from such sources as IPPF, PSI, MSI, USAID, UNFPA and select individual governments.

Plan

On the AccessRH web portal, you can browse the extensive AccessRH Catalog of UNFPA quality-assured products and use the estimated prices for comparison with other suppliers as you build a reproductive health procurement plan.

The online Budget Planner helps to estimate the costs of your procurement order. Estimate how many items can be purchased within a budget or estimate how much a given quantity of items will cost.

Lead time information can be used to effectively plan procurement orders so that products arrive at desired times. Use the Lead Time Calculator to estimate how long it will take for your order to arrive.

Expert guidance

UNFPA's procurement team is on hand to provide expertise and information to help maximize both your financial and human resources. UNFPA also offers capacity building services under the Government Training Programme in Procurement to strengthen national systems.

Did you know?

In addition to contraceptives, the AccessRH Catalog now includes emergency reproductive health kits, hundreds of pharmaceutical products, medical equipment and census supplies.

Through the RHInterchange, you can analyze data for more than 140 countries.

AccessRH helps reproductive health partners make the best procurement decisions to meet their needs -- whether they procure through UNFPA or not.
